4 Board structure

The composition, structure and proceedings of the Board are primarily governed by Nine's constitution (a copy can be found on the company's website) and the laws governing corporations in jurisdictions where the company operates. The Board shall regularly review the composition, structure and performance of the Board.

5 Board composition

The Board aims to have a Board of directors which has, at all times, the appropriate mix of skills, experience, expertise and diversity relevant to Nine's businesses and the Board's responsibilities.

6 Appointment and re-election of directors

- (a) With guidance from external consultants, where necessary, and assistance from the Nominations Committee the Board shall identify candidates with appropriate skills, experience, expertise and diversity in order to discharge its mandate effectively and to maintain the necessary mix of expertise on the Board.
- (b) The Board assesses nominations of new directors against a range of criteria including the candidate's background, experience, gender, professional skills, personal qualities, capability of the candidate to devote the necessary time and commitment to the role, potential conflicts of interest, independence and whether their skills and experience will complement the existing Board.

- (c) The criteria to assess nominations of new directors is reviewed annually and the Board regularly compares the skill base of existing directors with that required for the future strategy of Nine to enable identification of attributes required in new directors.
- (d) Before appointment to the Board, candidates shall confirm that they will have sufficient time to meet their obligations to Nine, in light of other commitments.
- (e) Letters of appointment for each new appointment to the board set out the key terms and conditions relevant to the appointment.
- (f) All directors (other than a managing director, if any) are subject to re-election by rotation at least every three years. Newly appointed directors must seek re-election at the first general meeting of shareholders following their appointment.

7 Review of Board, committee and individual directors' performance

- (a) The Board shall regularly carry out a formal review of the performance of the Board, its committees, Senior Management and each non-executive director, using where necessary an external consultant, against appropriate measures. The review shall assess:
 - (i) the effectiveness of the Board and each committee in meeting the requirements of its charter;

 - (iii) whether adequate time is being allocated to Nine matters, taking into account each director's other commitments;
 - (iv) the independence of each non-executive director, taking into account the director's other interests, relationships and directorships.
- (b) Each year, the People and Remuneration Committee shall review the performance of the Chief Executive Officer and any other executive directors as may be appointed against guidelines approved by the Board.
- (c) Each year, a statement detailing the mix of skills and diversity which the Board is looking to achieve in membership to the Board should be included in Nine's annual report.

8 Chair and deputy chair

- (a) The chair shall be elected by the Board but must be an independent director. The chair must not hold, and must not have held within the previous 3 years, the office of Chief Executive Officer of Nine. The chair's role includes:

 - (c) Board papers are distributed, where possible, within a reasonable period of time before each meeting.

11 Access to independent advice

Directors may obtain independent professional advice at Nine's expense on matters arising in the course of their board and committee duties, after obtaining the chair's approval. Approval will typically be granted where the advice is considered necessary for the directors to discharge their duties as directors. The other directors must be advised if the chair's approval is withheld.

12 Non-executive directors' meetings

The non-executive directors are expected to meet periodically with no management present, to review management performance.

13 Independence of non-executive directors

- (a) To be judged independent, a director must, in the opinion of the Board, be independent of management and have no business or other relationship that could materially interfere with – or could reasonably be perceived to materially interfere with – the independent exercise of that director's judgement. The Board considers thresholds of materiality for the purpose of determining 'independence' on a case-by-case basis.

- (b) Individuals would, in the absence of evidence or convincing argument to the contrary, be judged to be not independent if the individual:
- (i) is employed, or had previously been employed in an executive capacity by Nine or any of its subsidiaries in the three years prior to becoming a director, or
 - (ii) is directly involved in the audit of Nine or any of its subsidiaries, or
 - (iii) receives performance based remuneration from Nine or participates in any employee incentive scheme offered by Nine; or
 - (iv) is, or represents, a substantial shareholder of Nine, or is or has, in the last three years been, an officer of or employee of, or a professional adviser to , a substantial shareholder of Nine, or
 - (v) is, or has been in the last three years, in a material business relationship with Nine or any of its subsidiaries (eg a supplier, professional adviser, consultant or customer) or is an officer of or otherwise associated with such an entity; or
 - (vi) has close personal ties with any person who falls into any of the above categories; or
 - (vii) has been a director of Nine for such a period of time that their independence from management and substantial holders may have been compromised.
- (c) Any change in the nature of the independence status of a non-executive director must be promptly notified to the chair and company secretary and the Board will review that director's independence status.

14 Conflict of interest

- (a) Directors must keep the Board advised, on an ongoing basis, of any interests that could potentially conflict with those of Nine and shall advise the company secretary of all directorships or executive positions held in other companies.
- (b) If a potential material conflict of interest or conflict of duty arises, the director concerned shall advise the chair prior to any Board meeting at which the issue is to be discussed. The director shall not receive the relevant Board papers and shall leave the board meeting while the relevant matter is considered. Any potential conflict must be recorded in the Board minutes.

15 Board committees

- (a) The Board shall operate three permanent committees:
- (i) Audit and Risk Management Committee;
 - (ii) People and Remuneration Committee; and
 - (iii) Nominations Committee.
- (b) When appointing members of each committee, the Board shall take account of the skills and experience appropriate for that committee as well as any statutory or regulatory requirements.
- (c) The chair of the Audit and Risk Management Committee shall not be the chair of the Board and shall be independent of management and Nine.

- (d) The committees operated by the Board shall consider and determine the matters for which they are responsible in accordance with their charter. Copies of the charter of each committee shall be published on Nine's website. The Board may establish other committees as and when required.

16 Confidentiality

All proceedings of the Board, including Board papers, presentations and other information provided to the Board, shall be kept confidential except as required by law or as agreed by the Board.
